APPLICATION FOR BUILDING PERMIT

Application # _____

DESCRIPTION: BUILDING PERMIT

A Building Permit is required for a variety of construction projects. These range from new construction to existing structure additions and major renovations. A Building Permit is not the same as a Development Permit. A Building Permit ensures that construction of a building structure is in adherence to BC Building Codes.

Note: this Building Permit will be issued under the following conditions:

1.2.1.2. Responsibility of Owner

I) Unless otherwise specified in this Code, the owner of a building shall be the person responsible for carrying out the provisions of this Code in relation to that building.

II) The owner of a building is in no way relieved of full responsibility for complying with this Code by the authority having jurisdiction a) granting a building permit, b) approving drawings or specifications, or c) carrying out inspections.

2) That the District is relying on the Registered Professional (when required), assuring that this project has been designed to meet the current Building Code, and the District has reduced it's plan review fee accordingly.
